

Reflective Writing

Reflective Writing

Read the example of reflective writing in the box. Then write a paragraph in the spaces below. Use correct sentence structure.

What makes biology a lot of fun is confounding my friends with the gigantic words and impressive facts that I've learnt. Did you know that an ornithorhynchus is really alive and living in Australian creeks? It's known to less educated people as the platypus. It's an amazing animal that has a duck-shaped bill that can detect electric signals of its prey in the water. I've learnt that there are so many extraordinary animals in this world.

What makes biology fun is _____

I felt disappointed in science last week because _____
